Christians: Will it be Reformation or Resignation for America?

Currently, one of the most looming threats to America is radical Islamic jihad-bred terrorism. Why? Because of its anti-democratic prejudice; its inhuman criminal goals; its murderous "religious" motivation; and its covert, suicidal methods of operation which specifically target free societies ... taking advantage of the freedoms they offer in an unrelenting demented effort to destroy them.

There are many fronts on which America is under attack, both externally and internally, with potentially lethal threats to her existence as we know it. Newspapers, television, and other media outlets are full of almost daily headline stories of terrorist attacks around the world; and we wonder where this seemingly invisible enemy of America will strike next ... perhaps on our soil at a magnitude that may make 9/11 look like a dress rehearsal.

The events of September 11, 2001, must never be erased from our memory. Two hundred and eighty-two million Americans reeled in shock and disbelief at the horror of commandeered passenger airplanes cashing in Pennsylvania and into world-famous landmarks ... in New York City and Washington, D.C. We helplessly watched the spectacle of all the fire and smoke; falling rubble and dust; desperate people hanging out of windows 80 stories high; and many jumping to their death rather than burning alive in the inferno in the sky ... before the final mighty crash of the towers, killing almost 3,000 innocent people.

What force could have been the mainspring of motivation behind this horrific incident? Immediately, there must be recognition that 100% of the nineteen terrorists were ideological off-spring of an extremely militant minority sect of the Islamic faith, Al-Qaeda; and fifteen of the nineteen were citizens of Saudi Arabia. Despite the sincere disclaimers voiced by that nation's government officials, the schools of numerous mosques throughout the world regularly drill into the heads of their young students a bitter hatred of and outspoken vows to destroy America – "the Great Satan" – justified by their interpretation of their "holy" text -book known as the Quran.

Terrorism is more than an American problem; it is a global problem. It is more than a religious problem; it is in essence a brutal conspiracy, a type of crime syndicate.

We Americans must not hide our heads in the sand in the face of such a relentless, evil conspiracy to destroy all that we have built and hold dear.

The fact that Islam is a religion, and we oppose religious prejudice, is no reason to ignore the threat to our security of this deadly sect, headed by serpents such as Osama Bin Laden and their murderous, dedicated followers.

President's Corner

Greetings Foundation members and friends! We have experienced a scorching hot and uncomfortable summer. Finally relief, the weather will be cooler now that fall is approaching. We hope to see you back at the chapel on Sundays.

Mark your calendars for a couple of very special Sundays:

September 3rd, observance of Labor Day with root beer floats being served during the fellowship hour. This will be a cool treat after a hot summer.

September 17th, POW/MIA Remembrance Sunday will be observed.

The Foundation honors the POW/MIA throughout the year with a reserved empty chair and a lit candle to honor the memory of our nation's POW/MIAs. Additionally, a POW/MIA flag is posted every Sunday as a tribute to these armed forces service members. This distinctive POW/MIA flag has its own history, beginning in 1971. In that year, Mary Hoff, wife of MIA Michael Hoff and a member of the National League of Families, took the initiative in contacting Norman Rivkees, the vice president of Annin & Co. This firm previously had created a banner for the People's Republic of China, as part of its policy to provide flags to all United Nations member states. Sympathetic to the POW/MIA issue, Rivkees, along with Annin's advertising agency, designed a flag to represent the missing Americans. The flag was manufactured for distribution following approval by the National League of Families. In 1989, an official League flag, which had flown over the White House the previous year on National POW/MIA Recognition Day, was installed in the Capitol Rotunda. It still flies there today, the only flag ever displayed in the Rotunda. As a constant reminder of the plight of America's POW/MIAs, the flag is a highly visible symbol. It is also the only flag other than Old Glory that has ever flown over the White House.

The POW/MIA flag is to be flown on Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day, Flag Day, Independence Day, National POW/MIA Recognition Day and Veterans Day. The flag flies on the grounds of major military installations, federal national cemeteries, the Korean War Veterans Memorial, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, the White House, post offices and at the official offices of the Secretaries of State, Defense and Veterans Affairs; and the director of the Selective Service System.

Look closely at the POW/MIA flag and you will see a white disk which bears in black a silhouette of a bowed head of a man; behind him is a watch tower with a guard holding a rifle. A single strand of barbed wire is also visible. Below the white disk are a wreath and the words, "YOU ARE NOT FORGOTTEN." At the top sit the white letters POW/MIA. This is the POW/MIA flag.

Our enemy is not Islam as a religion with its 1.3 billion Muslims around the world; but rather, it is a minority sect that has built its case for terrorist pursuits and mass murder on certain "proof" texts drawn from the Quran.

Back in America's colonial days our young nation had its birth in a prolonged struggle for freedom. It was not enough for the Founding Fathers and colonists to "know" their enemy. They first had to "know" God and Jesus Christ. Thus, the motto of the War for Independence was "No king but King Jesus!"

Today, "knowing" the mind of an Islamic terrorist is not enough. America's present condition of increasing vulnerability can be understood. It's as if God has lifted his hand of protection from our nation because of our turning our backs on the Lord, the author of our liberty. We must first make amends with God, and such amends must not be patronizing in nature.

America needs a reformation to undo and correct the many ways in which we have tried and abused God's patience through blatant disobedience, mocking and turning away from the Lord. A dedicated Christian remnant, such as this congregation, can spark the reformation. God promised that: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." (2 Chronicles 7:14)

We need God's divine hand of protection over our nation. As Martin Luther would say, his hand is a "mighty fortress" which can protect us and empower us to prevail even against our most deadly enemies. Today, America's terrorist enemies must be recognized, exposed and hunted down by all the intelligence and investigative services and military might of the United States ... until the last breath is drawn by the last zealot!

It has always been the objective of tyrants to maximize biblical ignorance of the masses of people because a biblically literate populace is their most fearsome enemy. It has been said that wherever Jesus Christ has gone with his Gospel of salvation and his light of truth and spiritual liberty, a great movement for political liberty has inevitably followed in his wake. "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John 8:32)

Why have so many of America's Christians been deaf to the warnings? What strange force has such a grip over their minds as to render them blind; preferring to live in a non-controversial world of pretended "peace ... when there is no peace?" Who is at fault? It all started in America's pulpits. America's Christians today are in desperate need of spiritual discernment and vision.

The Roads of Life

Because we can't seem to find our place
In the society of this day,
Have faith, my friend, things will work out
For God still leads the way.

As mortals we are sinners,
But God reaches for our hand
No matter how we live our lives,
He is fully in command.

Many are the roads of life
That each of us must trod,
So just remember, everyone
Must settle that with God.

He tells us to be faithful
He tells us to be kind and true, Therefore he must have charge of our lives
And he will surely see us through.

Many are the problems
We may encounter on our way,
But, there again we must remember,
That our God still leads the way.

by Donald F. Minor
Foundation Member

Note from Don: Several years ago, late at night, Edie and I received a phone call from a friend — the mother of a young man we had known since his childhood. She was very distraught after learning her son was contemplating suicide. After a lengthy talk with her we retired for the night. We prayed for both of them and talked for some time. After no sleep, I came down to my desk in the wee hours and wrote this poem; then the next morning, sent it in the mail to him. We thought this might show him that he had much to care about and that we cared too. Now as a man, he is still in this world.

Many have convinced themselves that the United Nations New World Order is the way to peace. Faith in man's essential "goodness" (in sharp contrast to his biblically declared fallen human nature) is central to the belief of many.

One great obstacle stands in the way of the final triumph of this global evil; the Christians of America. In all of history God alone has been able to turn back the advances of evil. No "religion" has been capable of freeing man and exalting the worth and dignity of the individual as has Christianity. There is only one answer. The hearts of the American people must be spiritually reborn and the Word of God diligently searched by every able citizen, issue by issue, for God's direction. Then, and only then, will America be able to save her torch of liberty from being extinguished and the world from plunging with her into the darkness that awaits all of us. There can be no substitute for an urgent nationwide reformation to reclaim the militant Christian faith of the Founding Fathers.

America's Christians have a choice. We can allow our country and our freedoms to descend into oblivion by default, or we can choose to reject the deceptions of Satan and get back to the battlefronts as God commands us to do. The Founding Fathers warned us that even the best Constitution cannot withstand the assault of tyranny ... if the hearts of the people have lost their biblical morality and virtue.

Freedom (being spiritual in its origin) begins in and flows out of the heart. The question, therefore, is not "Can America descend into a global tyranny?" The question is: "Will her Christians let it happen?"

Fort Snelling Chapel Anniversary Celebration

On March 23, 1923 the commanding officer at Fort Snelling requested the authority from the Adjutant General of the United States Army to erect a Post Chapel "without expense to the government." On September 17, 1923 the approval was granted.

So eighty years ago on September 5, 1926 the ground breaking ceremony was held and this was the beginning of the Fort Snelling Veterans Memorial Chapel we know today.

Starting this September we, as a congregation, will be kicking off a two year program to commemorate the eighty years the Chapel has been in existence. At the same time we are marking the forty years that the Fort Snelling Memorial Chapel Foundation has been in existence. Our Foundation was incorporated on December 13, 1966.

Along the way we will have other significant events to recognize such as the cornerstone being laid on August 21, 1927, the Chapel dedication on June 10, 1928 and the beginning of the non-denominational worship services on February 12, 1967. We will be recognizing our heritage as a congregation.

Our theme to drive this great event will be "A Proud Past — A Powerful Present — A Promising Future." This is going to be a wonderful and exciting time to be a member of this congregation as we commemorate our historical past, celebrate our energetic present and contemplate our exciting future.

Future articles will include stories of the building of the Chapel and the activities that it took to raise the interest in the project as well as the raising of the funds that it took to make the project successful. This could not be done without the dedication of many people.

There Is No Age For Love

Is there an age for friendship?
No, there doesn't seem to be — for the older all my friendships grow, the more they mean to me.

There is no age for faith and hope, for helping and for sharing and anyone who really cares knows there's no age for caring …

Is there an age for dreaming dreams?
I've never thought that's true, for all my dreams still lead me on to strive and dare and do.

Is there an age for loving rainbows or the wondrous stars above?
Of course not, and that's why
I'm sure there is no age for love.

Never count your age by years for years tell only part of the age that really matters deep within the human heart …

The calendar is nothing more than numbers on a page and little bits of paper needn't change a person's age.

Rather, count your favorite dreams that have — one by one — come true, by love that you have given and by love returned to you …

Count the smiles you've seen reflected in so many grateful faces.
Count the cheerful conversations and the warmth of fond embraces.

Measure age by lovely memories you'll treasure ever after;
never count the tears you've shed;
instead, just count the laughter.

Count those milestone moments you have worked toward and won instead of "might have been's" from things you've never done.

Count the many blessings that you've valued more than gold and you'll find that deep within your heart you never will grow old.

As I look into my mirror
on this my latest birthday,
I can see reflections of the changes the years have made in me.

But my mirror can't reflect the gifts that the years have brought my way and they're the timeless treasures that I'm thinking of today.

Time has brought me understanding and I've learned to smile through tears, for my heart has grown much wiser, kinder, and stronger with the years.

I've grown closer to my loved ones.
To my friends — I've grown more true and the years have slowly taught me how to love and give and do.

So as I gave into my mirror,
I can smile at what I find — for in my heart, where it really counts, my birthdays have been kind.

Benevolent Giving ...

As a child growing up in the 1960s, I had a much different image of the Minnesota Veterans Home (MVH)-Minneapolis than what I experienced on my recent tour of the home. My grandfather Eugene Hoy, a World War I Navy veteran, often used to take us down to the Minnehaha Falls for picnics. I used to see a long row of wheel chairs, with a lot of old guys missing limbs overlooking the Minnehaha creek. I would ask my grandfather who they were? He said they were World War I veterans that were injured in the war and were being taken care of by the Old Soldiers Home. It appeared to me that they were lonely and bored. My childhood image of MVH changed when I became the Benevolence Committee Chair and began to learn about all of the activities that occur at the MVH.

Patricia Swanson, Foundation President and volunteer at MVH asked me to write an article about the home and the Recreation Therapy Department for The Snelling Spirit. In preparation for the development of this article, I scheduled a tour of MVH. Upon my arrival, I was introduced to Shirlee Peterson, Director of the Recreation Therapy Department. I was completely surprised by all the activities that go on inside and outside of MVH. I learned that all materials for the recreation department are 100% donated and include such items as: pianos, the cost of bus transportation, baking and gardening supplies and fishing poles.

An example of one of the many programs is called "Veterans on the Lake" a resort located in Ely, MN. This resort is equipped for veterans from around the country to come enjoy a week of fishing. Every year the MVH-Minneapolis takes about 20 veterans from the home for a week of fishing. All of the fishing supplies are donated. Over the years, the fishing poles have fallen in complete disrepair. Don Steffenson, a Foundation member and volunteer at MVH helps to escort the veterans on the annual fishing trip. Don states, he will spend the entire first day trying to fix the fishing poles for use which many are not repairable. Don shared this problem with me and submitted a benevolence request for new fishing poles. Don also attended a Benevolence Committee meeting and provided them with a presentation of the need for new fishing poles. The Benevolence Committee recommended to the Foundation's Board of Directors to approve a $500 gift to MVH for the sole purpose of purchasing fishing poles for the next trip to Ely. The Foundation's Board approved the gift.

During my tour, Shirlee Peterson shared that Patricia Swanson and Don Steffenson are two of the greatest advocates for the Recreation Therapy Department. Their service is deeply appreciated as well as their advocacy to find gifts which support the many fun daily activities for the veterans living at the home. MVH is in great need of volunteers. If you would like more details or to volunteer, you can make contact with Dee Oliver/ Public Affairs Director, 5101 Minnehaha Ave S., Minneapolis, MN 55417-1699, 1-877-838-6757.

I would like to give a heartfelt thanks to all of the hard working therapists and volunteers that are giving the old soldiers a fulfilling life. Last year the Foundation supported their efforts with $1,500 of benevolence gifts and will continue to support them into the future.

Sincerely,
— Patrick Hoy

Getting to Know You ...

Drafted in May 1941, Harold Van Every was a member of the first group of soldiers shipped out of Fort Snelling during World War II. His pay: $21.00 per month. After completing basic training in Bakersfield, California, Harold went to Sacramento with the U.S. Army Air Corp and then on to Sioux City, Iowa for combat training.

In 1943, now Captain Van Every was sent to Rattlesden, England where he based at Camp Lucky Strike.

On May 14, 1944, on his ninth mission, Harold and his nine other crewmen were shot down over Frankfurt, Germany and were forced to eject their aircraft at 22,000 feet. Harold subsequently landed on the roof of a building. His parachute pulled him to the ground and onto a fence, which resulted in an injury to his back. The German's witnessed Harold and his crew's descent, and they were subsequently captured. The enemy, whose English-speaking spies had infiltrated Allied bases in England and gathered as much information about individual soldiers as possible, knew the identity of Captain Van Every.

Above: POW Certificate of Captivity for Capt. Harold Van Every. Captured: 12 May 1944 Liberated 29 Apr 1945

After his capture Harold was taken to a jail in Frankfurt and spent 10 days in solitary confinement while the Germans tried to get information out of him, but they already knew everything about him and his crew. While in jail he found a screw and scratched off the engraving on his pilots ring. Harold was then marched to Stalag Luft III in Sagan, Germany. There he spent ten days in jail in solitary confinement. The camp held 10,000 POW's, keeping 2,500 men to a compound and twelve men to a barracks. While in camp, the POWs would keep abreast of the news via BBC broadcasts on radios hidden from the guards. Generally, their German captors paid little attention to the POWs. They were not required to work and were expected to look after themselves. Although the POWs did receive one parcel a week from the Red Cross, Harold remembers a significant lack of provisions at the camp. While at Satlag Luft, he lost sixty pounds. The prisoners had to wash their clothes in sub zero weather without the benefit of soap. Men oftentimes succumbed to physical illness as well as mental distress. Those tortured souls seemed to suddenly loose control and start screaming. Guards would appear and take them away. These valiant soldiers were never seen in camp again. Harold carries memories of men who were shot trying to escape from the camp, which only instilled more fear in the others being held there. Life at the camp proved bleak, its monotony often became unbearable.

On January 27, 1945, Harold and his fellow POW's were forced out of camp as the Russian army was quickly approaching. They marched six days, walking 62 miles to Stalag XIII-D, which was on the outskirts of Nuremburg. Here prison life began anew. Two months later invading American armies forced a second evacuation to Moosburg and Stalag VII-A, a 91-mile trip that took ten days.

The long awaited liberation came on April 29, 1945 when Patton's Third Army advanced through on its drive to Munich. Ultimately, Harold was held as a POW for one year, returning home on June 19, 1945.

Harold Van Every was born in 1918 at his parents' home in Minnetonka Beach, Minnesota. Harold and his wife Drexel were married July 27, 1942 and have lived in the same house in Minneapolis, Minnesota since 1959. They have two children and two grandchildren.
